

Non-Permanent Residents, as of April 1, 2025

Released by Statistics Canada – June 18, 2025

On April 1, 2025, a total of 1,915 non-permanent residents (NPRs) were living in Yukon, accounting for 4.1% of the total population. Nationally, NPRs accounted for 7.1% of the population on the same date.

Comparing 2025 to 2024, the April 1st proportion of NPRs increased in eight provinces and territories including Yukon. Quebec had the highest increase (0.6 percentage points) in proportion, followed by Alberta (0.5 percentage points) and the Northwest Territories (0.3 percentage points). Yukon's proportion increased by 0.1 percentage point, the same as Canada's.

Of the 1,915 non-permanent residents living in Yukon on April 1, 2025:

- 1,481, or 77.3%, held only work permits;
- 264, or 13.8%, held only study permits;
- 53, or 2.8%, held both work and study permits;
- 82, or 4.3%, were in other categories, mainly family members living with permit holders; and
- 35, or 1.8%, were asylum claimants.

¹ 'Change' is measured in percent, or percentage points, where applicable. Percentage points are the actual numerical difference between two percentages, such as: 10.0% - 8.2% = 1.8 percentage points. Change in percentage points is based on unrounded percentages.

Note to readers:

- A non-permanent resident refers to a person from another country with a usual place of residence in Canada and who has a work or study permit, or who has claimed refugee status (asylum claimants, protected persons and related groups). Family members living with work or study permit holders are also included unless these family members are already Canadian citizens, landed immigrants (permanent residents), or non-permanent residents themselves.
- In Statistics Canada's Demographic Estimates Program, the terms non-permanent resident and temporary immigrant are used interchangeably. Caution should be used when comparing data related to non-permanent residents from the Statistics Canada's Demographic Estimates Program and data on temporary residents from Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada (IRCC) since these populations are not fully comparable.
- Population figures are based on estimates by Statistics Canada. These figures may differ from Yukon Bureau of Statistics population estimates due to methodological differences.
