Additionally, bars and restaurants can return to full capacity for table service, social bubbles can increase to 20, and social gathering sizes can increase with physical distancing: indoor gatherings up to 20 people with mask use; outdoor gatherings up to 100 people. Travel and borders

- As of May 25, any traveller arriving from within Canada who is fully vaccinated with a Health Canada-approved vaccine is not required to self-isolate, provided their vaccination status can be confirmed.
- If an individual does not want to consent to providing that information, they can still enter the territory as long as they self-isolate for 14 days. Additional exceptions include critical services workers and residents of border areas such as Atlin, Lower Post, Fire Side, Jade City, Fraser, Good Hope Lake and Pleasant Camp. Critical service workers must fully self-isolate when not performing their duties. For more information on travelling to Yukon, visit: <https://yukon.ca/en/borders-and-travel-covid-19>
