

A Path Forward: Yukon's plan for lifting COVID-19 restrictions

Our goal is a phased approach to easing restrictions, while staying safe from the pandemic. At all times we aim to contain the spread of COVID-19 and stop its importation to the territory. Because the situation is rapidly evolving and because so many of the actions Yukon takes will be informed by COVID-19 conditions in other provinces, territories and neighbouring jurisdictions, this Yukon plan is a living document.

Decisions about when and how to move forwards or backwards will be guided by 6 key criteria:

1. Yukoners are following the public health orders, directions and the Safe 6.
2. Preventative measures and guidelines are in place and being complied with.
3. High capacity for testing and contact tracing is available.
4. Travel restrictions and self-isolation measures are keeping Yukon safe.
5. Health system capacity is meeting current needs and prepared to respond to changing conditions.
6. There is no community-spread of COVID-19.

Public health measures	Phases for reopening
	Important note: Any future dates for phases are subject to change based on the 6 key criteria. Steps within each phase will be gradual.
	Phase 0 (Response) Aim: Limited businesses and services operating and reduced movement within Yukon to contain the spread of the virus.	Phase 1 (Restart): May 15 to June 30 Aim: Safely ease public health measures and reopen businesses and services. Border controls remain tight, but movement within Yukon eases.	Phase 2 (Recover): July 1 to July 31 Aim: Continue to safely ease public health measures and prepare to ease some border control measures.	Phase 3 (New normal): August 1 until a date to be determined Aim: Focus on long-term sustainability and living safely with COVID-19.	Phase 4 (Post-vaccine) Yukon will move to Phase 4 once a vaccine is ready or an alternative public health approach is available.

Public health experts predict that there will be additional waves of COVID-19 infections across Canada. Yukon may need to move back to earlier phases in order to help limit and contain the spread of the virus. Every single person in Yukon has a part to play in stopping the spread of COVID-19 and saving lives. With your help we can continue to reopen our society. All Yukoners should continue to follow the Safe 6: <http://practisesafe6.ca>
