

Log Skyscraper

Municipal Historic Site

Whitehorse, Yukon

Photo: Government of Yukon

These unusual buildings were part of a solution to address the housing shortage following World War II, as Whitehorse evolved economically and politically to become the capital city of the Yukon. These municipal heritage buildings continue to serve as dwellings. They are symbols of the ingenuity and creative spirit of the Yukon.

To learn more about the Log Skyscraper, please visit <http://register.yukonhistoricplaces.ca>

Photo: Government of Yukon

On the back, you will find an illustration of the Log Skyscrapers by artist Lea-Anne McNally. Colour in this building and let your imagination reach for the sky!

Lea-Ann McNally is an emerging artist with a BFA in Intermedia-Cyber Arts from Concordia University. Her passions include drawing, painting, set design, prop design, computer programming, video production, electronic art, performance, interactive art installations, stop-motion animation, photography, and creating content for online platforms.

